

How to submit your manuscript to Plains Anthropologist

Most of the information you need to submit a manuscript to Plains Anthropologist can be found online. This document helps you get to the online information, but also provides other necessary information and select items of guidance to make the process a little easier.

Manuscript submission guidance

- At the Plains Anthropological Society website, log in as a member
If you are not a member, you can't log in. Consider joining the Plains Anthropological Society.
- Select Taylor and Francis Online to the left of the screen, and then under Online Journal Access at the top of the page select Taylor and Francis Online again
- On the left select Instructions for Authors. Most of the information you need is there.

Further below on page 3 is guidance on how to submit your manuscript through Editorial Manager, but first make sure that your manuscript meets the journal standards by reviewing the information immediately below

Style Guides

American Antiquity style guide

- Plains Anthropologist follows the most recent online style guide of American Antiquity
- To access this document, enter "American Antiquity style guide" in your browser's search field, or select this link American Antiquity style guide.
- The style guide begins in section 3.0, but the portion of the style guide that is relevant to Plains Anthropologist starts at Section 3.2.1, Title Page.

Other style guides (used for consistency in grammar and spelling)

- The Chicago Manual of Style, seventeenth edition, 2017, University of Chicago Press
- Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, eleventh edition, 2014, Merriam-Webster, Incorporated, Springfield, Massachusetts

Quick tips and requests from the Editorial Team

Submitting the manuscript in Editorial Manager

- Submit the manuscript with tables, table captions, and figure captions as one file, a Microsoft Word document
- Submit figures as additional, individual files, don't embed them in the manuscript
- Submit supplemental materials as additional, individual files

Preparing the Manuscript

Your manuscript file should be compiled in the following order:

- Title page
- Abstract (up to 150 words)
- Keywords (see below)
- Main text
- Acknowledgments
- Declaration of interest statement
- References cited
- Table(s) with caption(s) on individual pages
- Figure captions as a list
- Short biographies of all authors

Keywords: You can have up to six keywords and they can contain multiple words.

Example: Munkers Creek, Middle Archaic, Flint Hills, Permian chert, mid-Holocene climatic optimum, use-wear

Figures

- Figures should be 1200 dpi for line art, 600 dpi for grayscale and 300 dpi for color at a printable size—maximum dimensions are about 12 by 20 cm
- Figures should be supplied in EPS, PS, JPEG, GIF, or Microsoft Word (DOC or DOCX) format
- You can submit color figures. The journal is allowed 16 color figures per issue at no extra charge. If using color in a figure will make it clearer to the reader, consider submitting it as a color figure. If there are more than 16 color figures in an issue, the editor will contact you to discuss options.

Supplemental material

Presenting raw data is important but it takes valuable space, and the Society is charged for pages over 400 in a given volume. Most of the world is online, so elect to upload lengthy tables and appendices as well as video or audio recordings as supplemental material. These materials will be part of your submission but available solely online. Many file types are allowed, and they are uploaded as submitted—the author does not get proofs to review for supplemental material.

Suggestions to help get your manuscript accepted more quickly

- Follow the style guide

- Check the references cited in text against the citations listed in the References Cited section, and vice-versa
- Use the serial (or Oxford) comma: Lions, tigers, and bears
- Except as noted in the style guide, avoid abbreviations, especially if they are used only once or twice. Spell out state names.
- Avoid quotes, paraphrase instead.
- Consult the American Antiquity style guide for guidance on the format to be used for first published presentation of the results of radiocarbon assays
- When first mentioning a site, provide both the name (if the site has a name) and the site number. The name alone can be used thereafter.
- Measurements are presented in the metric system, using their abbreviations and no periods (but see the style guide for exceptions)
- Some preferred formatting examples:
 - Washington DC, PhD, Master's thesis
 - AD 1601, 5800 BC (Chicago Manual of Style 2017, 9.34)

Once accepted, manuscripts are published online and available to members through the Society website. To get there:

Select the type of article you are submitting:

Article—a longer manuscript that has a broad scope

Report—a shorter article that is focused on a discrete set of data

Comment—a brief submission focused on a single topic that has been discussed elsewhere, a marginal note, or a critique.

Book review—please coordinate with the book reviewer editor, Matthew E. Hill

Obituary—a remembrance of someone who has passed

Memoir—A long detailed work with multiple sections of chapters on a single topic.

After making your selection, select Proceed.

The screenshot shows the Taylor & Francis Editorial Manager interface for the journal Plains Anthropologist. The user is logged in as 'Author' with the username 'BobHoard'. The submission process is shown in three steps: 'Article Type Selection' (active), 'Attach Files', and 'Manuscript Data'. In the 'Article Type Selection' step, a dropdown menu is open, showing options: 'None' (selected), 'Article', 'Report', 'Comment', 'Book Review', 'Obituary', and 'Memoir'. A 'Proceed' button with a right arrow is visible to the right of the dropdown. A note on the left says: 'Choose the Article Type of your submission from the drop-down menu.'

Here is where you upload your manuscript.

Note: The manuscript needs to be submitted twice as two different files—one version having author information on the title page and in a short bio at the end, the other without, with the files named accordingly— so have both files ready.

Start by selecting the Browse button (below) and selecting a document to upload—Upload your anonymous manuscript.

The next screen is shown below. Look at the Select Item Type box. It is set to *Manuscript-Anonymous, and notice near the bottom of the screen in the File Name field that I already uploaded the anonymous copy of the manuscript using the Browse button. Now, to enter the authored version, use the dropdown arrow in the Select Item Type box to select Manuscript – with author details and in the Description field enter Authored Manuscript. Select Browse, and upload the authored manuscript.

Don't leave this screen—you're going to enter all of your files here.

Select Browse again, upload figure 1, and label it Figure 1. Continue until you have entered all documents and figures, and supplemental material if you choose to use that. They'll appear as a list. It's good to put everything in order. You can change the file order by editing the numbers on the left to the order they should be in and then selecting Update File Order.

Now select Proceed.

There is a Questionnaire. Sorry, no screen shot here, the page is too long. Answer the questions. Sometime there is only one choice, but answer it. It's good to know the word count of your document, that's one of the questions. After answering all of the questions, select Proceed to get this screen.

Submissions Waiting for Approval by Author Robert J. Hoard, PhD

If no Actions appear for your submission, please wait a few minutes for your PDF to be built. The Actions appear automatically when your PDF is available.

Please note that all your submitted files will appear in this PDF for you to check they appear ok. This IS NOT the PDF that is seen by Reviewers. Ensure that your files have been uploaded under the correct file designations to maintain the integrity of double blind peer review (Anonymous file under Anonymous File Designation etc).

The 'Edit Submission' link allows you to fix or alter your submission. Please use Edit Submission to make changes to the meta-data and to remove and upload new files that make up your submission.

The 'Remove Submission' link removes your submission from the system. Please use this ONLY if you would like to permanently remove this submission from the system.

Please confirm that you have read the following by clicking "I Accept" below:

Taylor & Francis strongly recommend that authors save and retain their own copies of any manuscript files uploaded for peer review. Should your manuscript be accepted for publication, you may need a copy of your Accepted Manuscript* files for future use, e.g. posting to repositories in order to comply with research funder policies.

Please check the box below to confirm that you have read and understood this recommendation.

*Your 'Accepted Manuscript' is defined as your paper, revised following peer review, and in the form accepted for publication by the journal editor: as defined by the National Information Standards Organization

You should use the free Adobe Reader 10 or later for best PDF Viewing results.

Wait a bit, until it reads Action Links under Actions, then select Action Links. Your submission will be a link you can download as a PDF or it can be viewed in your browser. There will be one document with both copies of your submission—one authored, one not, with all of the figures at the end. If it looks OK, go to Action Links and Approve it. If not, go to Action Links and edit it, and then Approve it.

Ready to submit? Find the little I Accept checkbox to the right and check it. Select Action Links and Approve Manuscript. The manuscript is in the system and will be sent to the Editor. Congratulations!

When will my published manuscript appear in print?

At any given time there are 5 to 10 manuscripts that are under review and about the same number accepted and online but not yet assigned to an issue. It will take a about a year before an accepted article is in print, though it can go up online within 8 weeks of submission if it goes through review quickly.

Thank you for contributing to the Plains Anthropologist.
